CROP PROSPECTS.

The Peach Crop Will Be Above the Average--Olive Culture, etc.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8th.--Crop reports received to-day by the California Associated Press from the various counties show, on the whole, excellent prospects for the coming year. The wheat crop is particularly entertaining, the heavy rainfall during the past winter would have a detrimental effect on the crop.

The wheat crop will be a good three-quarters of last year's yield. The shortage partially due to the change from grain to fruit, and the cold winter, but the average in quantity and quality.

The prune crop promises to be the best largest crop ever raised in California. The increased number of orchards coming into bearing. The reports also show that a large number of new prune orchards were set out this spring.

Peaches will be more than an average crop, while apricots will be a very light crop. The almond crop is also a light one.
The fruit crop is generally good, but the heavy rain during the winter has injured
the fruit in many places.

At the conclusion of the reading of the list it was announced that fourteen proxies were in attendance, also four alternates.

At the afternoon session W. C. Owens was chosen President, J. B. McCormack, H. B. Wicks, Vice Presidents, and

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

BIDS FOR PAINTING THE COUNTY HOSPITAL OPENED.

Lively Debate Over the Width of the Sheldon Road—Warring Neighbors Participate.

The Board of Supervisors reconvened yesterday forenoon. Mr. Tebbels was absent when the roll was called, but put in an appearance about half an hour later.

The first business taken up was the hearing of Mr. Plummer and other persons interested in the reopening of an old county road in Road District No. 7, which, it was alleged, had been closed unlawfully by Mr. Flint, through whose ranch it runs.

Mr. Plummer addressed the Board, stating that the road was laid out in 1851, and had been traveled for twenty-five years. It was important to residents in that vicinity that it should remain open.

Supervisor Bates moved that the matter be referred to the Committee on Roads, and Supervisor Greer favored the motion, but when Mr. Plummer protested, Bates withdrew his motion and substituted one to the effect that the road be closed until the matter is decided by the court.

After considerable debate this motion was carried. Mr. Greer voted that Flint's side of the story should be heard.

The matter of the proposed changes in the boundaries of Road District No. 7, which was partly heard Monday, came up for further hearing next, but on motion of Mr. Bates was postponed indefinitely.

Road Hearing. Chance reported to the Board that the funds in his district were entirely exhausted, and considerable work was necessary to be done immediately on the roads. He wanted to know if he could go ahead with the work and have the bills paid out of the road fund.

The members of the Board thought this a good plan and promised to pay for the work.

Mr. Leonard and a number of others wanted to address the Board in regard to proposed new roads which he is running through some of Supervisor Bates' land. Bates, however, who is not in favor of the idea, insisted that non-consenting land-owners were allowed a month's time by law in which to make their protest, and by mandating this right, a right of Leonard and the others, much to the disgust.

The matter of opening a new county road in the vicinity of Guthrie station was laid over until the May session of the Board, when the non-consenting land-owners will be notified to appear before the Board.

A recess was then taken until 2 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.
In the afternoon, recently advertised bids for painting the County Hospital were opened and read to the Board by Clerk Hamilton. They were as follows: C. H. Rott & Co., $2,287; J. H. Rott & Co., $1,815; A. H. Clough of Galt, $1,967.50; A. C. Giland, $2,228; Smedberg & Mott, $2,333; Patrick Nash, $1,480; N. Stackhouse, $2,000.

On motion of Mr. Bates the bids were referred to the Committee on Contracts, with instructions to report at 10 o'clock this morning.

The complaint of Mrs. S. A. Belcher and others, against a man named Patterson, son, to the effect that he was unlawfully narrowing a certain county road, was then taken up. This matter has appeared before the Board on several previous occasions, and has been the cause of no end of tribulation to the members. Mrs. Belcher appears, claiming that the Sheldon road was laid out in 1872, and its width fixed at sixty feet. With the exception of that portion of the road which is at present Patterson's ranch, the road is at present sixty feet in width. Patterson, however, wants to add a little more to his barley field, and proceeded to narrow the road, thus increasing the size of his field materially.

Mrs. Belcher and others have taken private action against Patterson, and accordingly Patterson addressed the Board and maintained that the road was never intended to be over forty feet in width. He accused Mrs. Belcher of being spiteful, and declared that the law would uphold his action.

Mrs. Belcher replied quite smartly, and Patterson and she engaged in a lively "You did it—you didn't" match, until called to order by Chairman Ross.

Mr. Tebbels suggested that the District Attorney's office be appealed to, and accordingly Assistant District Attorney Bruner was sent for.

A long debate, in which all hands participated, followed Mr. Bruner's declaration that the road could not be so wide, the matter, owing to the lack of proof as to the correct width of the road.

A motion was made that the matter be laid over until the May session of the Board, but Patterson protested so vehemently that the motion was withdrawn.

Mr. Tebbels then moved to hear his "sensible" and there.

Mrs. Belcher made another speech, and was assisted by another lady friend, equally eloquent. Patterson became more and more angry, and again war was imminent between the hostile neighbors, but Mr. Ross interceded in time.

Mr. Greer suggested that the members of the Board take a trip out to look at the road, but the idea was not approved.

Mr. Tebbels then offered a resolution declaring it the opinion of the Board that the Sheldon road's proper width was fifty feet, but nobody moved for its adoption.

Then it was Mr. Tebbels' turn to get mad. Looking at the clock, he observed that it was past supper time, and he moved for an adjournment until this morning, adding warmly that he "did not propose to sit around all day doing nothing."

Chairman Ross had no time in declaring the motion carried. The war will probably be resumed to-day.

CREE IS HELD.
Justice Henry is satisfied as to his guilt.

The preliminary examination of Thomas Cree, the individual who is accused of embarking a span of horses and a wagon from an old man named Davidson, was concluded before Justice of the Peace Henry yesterday forenoon, and resulted, as was anticipated, in Cree being held to answer to the charge before the Superior Court, with bonds fixed at $2,000.

The case was not argued by the attorneys on either side, as Justice Henry said his mind was thoroughly made up from the evidence.

It appears that in October last Cree hired the team from Davidson, agreeing to pay $4 per week for it. Davidson was from the country, and after a month or so had elapsed, returned. Cree complained that the winter had been a hard one, and that he was "hard up." Davidson generously waived the payment of the rental, and went away again. This was repeated the next time he came to town. Cree managed to keep the team until last week, when Davidson promptly demanded its return. To his astonishment Cree told him it was his own, and asked Davidson if he did not remember having received $100 for it. Naturally Davidson could not remember anything of the kind.

"It was a mean and shameful conspiracy on the part of Cree and a couple of his chums," said a gentleman who is acquainted with the particulars of the case yesterday. "To defraud a poor old man, who is simple-minded and unsuspecting. I know of my own knowledge that Cree never paid a cent for the team. Cree has now sold the team to a widely known specialist as Frank Howard, bartitone. James McCarty, a noted comic balladist. Edith Sinclair, an accomplished singer and dancer, and sketch painter; McIntyre and Heath, in plantation specialties, in which it is said they have few rivals; Kitty Kurale, Show and Whelan, William Hogan, and other "all-round" people well spoken of.

AMUSEMENTS.
At the Clunie Opera House, on Friday and Saturday evenings, Hyde's Star Specialty Company will appear. It has played a successful engagement in San Francisco for some weeks. It is admitted that the Clunie quartet, with this troupe, is the best on the road. In the troupe is Helene Mora, who is widely known as a specialist as Frank Howard, bartitone. James McCarty, a noted comic balladist. Edith Sinclair, an accomplished singer and dancer, and sketch painter; McIntyre and Heath, in plantation specialties, in which it is said they have few rivals; Kitty Kurale, Show and Whelan, William Hogan, and other "all-round" people well spoken of.

of. A sketch entitled "Away Down South" introduces all of the people of the company in a pleasant, realistic drama founded on Southern scenes before the war.

Another full house listened to "Faci-ni-za" last night, as sung by the McNeill Club and the ladies' auxiliary organization. The opera moved more smoothly and the singers were very much more at their ease. The opera will be repeated to-night for the last time. The effort of the club is an ambitious one, and when the difficulties of the opera are considered, the high order of ability required to present comic opera is taken into account, the bravery of the club in its scheme to encourage music culture awakens surprise.

It is probable that there will be a full house to-night, also, and that notes will be made to the effect that the club is one of the two nights of genuine stage work have developed.

A dance will be given by Y. M. I. No. 27 at its hall this evening.

John P. Harley, agent for Rice's "Beautiful Evangeline" company, is in the city.

He is Badly Chased Up by a Neighbor's Blood-Curdling Howls.

A prolonged series of unearthly and blood-curdling howls startled the neighborhood of Fifth and J streets yesterday. Crowds of people scamped hither and thither and finally located the sounds in the rear of Crouch & Lyman's plumbing shop.

"It's a horse dying," answered a little girl, who reported the anxious inquiry.

"No, it's a man been killed," interposed a dirty-faced archer.

"Aw, g'long," put in a colored boy who had been running after the dog, the rear of Crouch & Lyman's, "it's a dog-fight. The doctor's dog got all clawed up."

The dog-fight, which the children proved that the colored boy was right, was a dog-fight. A heavy-set and belligerent bulldog, belonging to the plumbing establishment had set upon a smaller deer-hound and before they could be separated the hound was badly lacerated and probably fatally injured.

"THROW OUT THE BOX"

TWO MASKED HIGHWAYMEN ROBE THE EXPRESS-BOX OPENED—FOUR PASSENGERS ROBBED, BUT ONE MAN STANDS THE RASCALS OFF.

William Muir, a prominent citizen of Michigan Bluff, Placer county, was in the city yesterday, and to a Record-Union reporter gave a full and detailed account of the robbery of the stage running between that place and Auburn, which occurred on Monday afternoon last. The coach was in charge of Gordon Cowan, proprietor of the line. It left Michigan Bluff at 6 o'clock a. m., with five passengers inside, and had reached a point within one and one-half miles of Auburn at 2 o'clock p. m., when two masked men, one armed with a double-barreled shotgun and the other with a 40-caliber pistol, stepped suddenly from behind a rock by the roadside, and commanded the driver to halt, which he did.

"HOLD UP YOUR HANDS!"
The robbers then ordered the five passengers, one of whom was a Chinaman, to get out, stand in a row and hold up their hands. While the big robber, who carried the shotgun, covered the men with his weapon, his companion ordered the driver to throw out the two boxes to Wells, Fargo & Co., which was done. The driver was ordered to alight, but on his request to be allowed to hold his team and keep on the track (the stage being on a down grade) he was not further molested.

The smaller of the two robbers—the one who carried the pistol—then set to work to break open one of the boxes. He took a miner's drill-hammer from his pocket and began to pound on the lid of the box, but soon broke the hammer, and had to content himself with a stone. The box contained only way-bills and other papers, and the disguised robber replaced them, and was about to break open the other box, when the driver informed him that it was empty, and asked him to spare it. He shook it, and being satisfied that it contained nothing, turned his attention to the passengers.

The man with the shotgun directed the other to first disarm all who might have weapons on them, which he proceeded to do, securing the pistol from the Chinaman. When he came to Muir, the latter warned him to attempt no familiarity further than to feel the outside of his clothing, and satisfy himself that he (Muir) had no weapon. It was against his principles to allow any man to rob him.

ONE OF THE PASSENGERS.
"One of the passengers, named A. C. Bowman, was then relieved of a boy's knife which he had secreted in one of his sleeves. The robber's face was a study. His eyes bulged and his mouth widened alarmingly. Blow me!" he gasped finally. "You're pretty full, and may have lost the money, or may be you misplaced it. See if it is not in some of your pockets."

that they might pass the evenings there. The new Librarian proposes that this custom shall not prevail while he is in charge. But, in order that no inconvenience will be undergone by those who wish to spend a few hours there of evenings, the Library will, after a week or so, be kept open from 9 o'clock in the morning till the same hour at night.

State Librarian Wallis, before his term of office expired, submitted a supplemental report to the Board of Trustees of the Library, in which he makes suggestions as to changes which he deems are needed in the law governing the State Library. According to his report, there are 80,000 volumes in the possession of the State, and on April 5th there was $10,924.91 in the library fund. Special mention is made of rare books, and also of the law department, which he claims would be a credit to any State in the Union.

AN INNOCENT ABOARD.
But It Happened That He Cried Before He Was Hurt.

"Hi! we've been robbed, Cap'n! blow me!" said his friend, who was sitting next him. It was at the police station, at 9:30 last evening. The speaker was John Penrose, a subject of her Majesty, Victoria, who only recently arrived in California to visit relatives. He was on his way home again, he said, and just stopped over in Sacramento "to see the bloomers" town.

Prison-keeper Higgins and Captain Lee asked John Penrose to explain about the robbery, and he did so in his own inimitable way. He had taken to rooming friends of Second street, he said, and after enjoying several rounds of drinks in their society, he had returned to his room, and had found his wallet, containing $140 in bills.

After receiving a description of the robbers, he said, he and Carroll started out in search of them, and before long had both of them at the police station to face their accuser.

Neither of the women denied having been in Richards' company, but both declared that they had not taken his money, nor had they seen the robbers. John Penrose's royal British blood, heated as it was from the effects of his second-street imbibitions, fairly boiled upon hearing these denials, and no doubt he would have smote the sirens were it not for the interference of the officers.

"Blasphemous blooming kentry!" he exclaimed, swinging his arms about wildly. "Hi! I'll be laid when I get home o' it."

"Wal, my friend," put in Captain Lee, "you're pretty full, and may have lost the money, or may be you misplaced it. See if it is not in some of your pockets."
